SAD VIGIL — Two Washington C. H. firemen check the inside of the George Baker home, 706 E. Paint St., for any remaining sparks from the blaze which fatally burned three children of the Baker family early Wednesday. The fire, which gutted the home, was believed to have started around a gas space heater in a room on the west side of the two-story frame structure. Baker, his wife, and an 8-year-old daughter escaped the blaze, but were admitted to Memorial Hospital suffering from severe burns and smoke inhalation.

By ED SUMMERS

Three children perished and their parents and a sister were seriously burned as a fire swept through their two-story E. Paint Street home while they slept early Wednesday.

Dead on arrival at Fayette Memorial Hospital were Sandra Diane Baker, 6, George E. Baker Jr., 3 and Roni Lynn Baker, 1 year, children of Mr. and Mrs. George Baker, 706 E. Paint St. Dr. Robert Heiny, assistant coroner, said the three died of massive burns and smoke inhalation.

Baker and an 8-year-old daughter,

Loretta Grace, were listed in fair condition Wednesday morning. Mrs. Baker was reported in "guarded condition." All three suffered burns on their hands, face and body. Mrs. Baker and her daughter were also treated for smoke inhalation.

Ron Hurlless, a volunteer fireman, suffered a slight laceration on his finger while fighting the blaze and was treated at the scene.

WASHINGTON C.H. Fire Chief Maynard Denen said the body of George Baker Jr., was found lying on a couch in the downstairs living room, where he had been sleeping with his father when the blaze started. The bodies of the two daughters were found in an upstairs rear bedroom, the baby still in her crib.

Denen said Mrs. Baker and her daughter apparently fled down the outside rear stairs to escape the flames. They were sleeping in the same room with the two dead children.

Baker told police he was sleeping on the living room couch with his son when he awoke shortly after midnight to find the center of the living room engulfed in flames.

He said the fire seemed to be centered around a gas space heater. He managed to escape through the front door of the blazing home.

The alarm was turned into police a few minutes later, at 12:10 a.m. by John Phillips, 701 E. Paint St., who lives across the street from the Baker residence. Phillips told officers at the time he heard someone screaming and looked out the window to see Baker running in front of the burning home.

POLICE and a Fire Department pumper arrived on the scene in about two minutes to find fire and smoke pouring out of all the downstairs

Spacemen await blastoff

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Seventeen, the last of America's proud Apollo flights to the moon, lifts into the dark on a column of fire tonight — a dazzling windup to an epoch of lunar exploration.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt were pictured as "all charged and ready" for the 13-day journey that may be man's final visit in this century to his celestial neighbor.

The blastoff is scheduled for 9:53 p.m. EST. Despite the few ever-present hitches, launch officials called the countdown of Apollo 17 one of the most trouble-free in the 11-flight Apollo series.

The skyscraper-tall Saturn 5 rocket and its cargo of men, scientific equipment and sacrificial mice will rise with a hellish roar on a 2,200-foot tail of flame that may be visible 500 miles away.

For the half million or more people expected in the area, weather conditions were not perfect. The forecast called for considerable cloudiness at 12,000 feet — the altitude the rocket reaches in less than a minute.

Weather posed less problems for space officials. Launch director Walter Kapryan said there would be a threat to ontime liftoff only if upper-level clouds contain ice particles that might create lightning strikes as the rocket slices through. He discounted the possibility.

The wives and children of Cernan and Evans said goodbye to the astronauts across a glass barrier Tuesday night. Schmitt, a geologist and the first scientist to go to the moon, is a bachelor.

Most of the Apollo astronauts, including many of the 10 men who have walked the moon, are at the cape to watch the historic last.

"There's a lot of good natured kidding between the veterans and the youngsters," said Adm. Alan Shepard, chief of the astronaut office and the first man in space.

"They're anxious to go," he said of Cernan, a two-flight veteran, and space rookies Evans and Schmitt. "They all seem to be feeling confident. They are all charged and ready for their part of the countdown."

The Apollo 17 astronauts have been sleeping later each day to adjust their biological timeclocks for an early afternoon wakeup. Their schedule calls for a light snack on arising, a medical examination in early evening and dinner 3½ hours before launch.

Although this is the last moon flight, it is not the end of space exploration. Three crews of three men each plan to man an earth-orbiting laboratory for periods of one and two months next year, and the space shuttle is in prospect for the late 1970s.

Cernan and Schmitt will land on the moon at 2:54 p.m. next Monday near the Taurus mountains and the Littrow crater in the northeast section of the moon. That area is scientifically interesting because it is expected to have the newest, as well as some of the oldest, rocks in the moon's 4.6 billion years of existence.

During their record 75 hours on the lunar surface, the astronauts will explore, collect samples and place experiments — leaving the lunar lander they call Challenger three times for seven-hour periods.

They plan to drive their moon car a total of 23 miles in quest of material that Schmitt said would "fill in missing chapters in the evolution of the moon — the first and the last."

He explained rocks returned by five previous moon-landing crews ranged in age from about 3 billion to 4.2 billion years old.

Evans, in the command ship named America, will conduct experiments from 60 miles over the surface in his 75 revolutions of the moon. By splashdown in the Pacific on Dec. 19, the command pilot will have flown 1.4 million miles.

Keeping Evans company will be five pocket mice that will ride in separate containers in a sealed box. They will be killed on returning to earth in an experiment to determine how cosmic rays might affect man's brain tissue on long space flights of the future.

Silver-haired at 38, Cernan previously has flown in space for three days on Gemini 9 and flew close to the moon in a dress rehearsal for the first landing aboard Apollo 10. He and his wife, Barbara, have a 9-year-old daughter, Tracey.

Schmitt, 37, a civilian, holds a doctorate in geology and was a Fulbright fellow and a teaching fellow at Harvard before joining the astronaut corps. He helped train the five previous moon-walking teams in geology and is the first scientist in space.

Evans, a Navy commander, is 39, married and the father of a son and daughter. He was flying combat missions in Vietnam when he was chosen an astronaut. He holds eight Air Medals.

Vice President and Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, personal friends of Cernan, will be among the 42,000 people who will be admitted to the launch site for a view from 3½ miles distant.

Fear 13 dead as military planes collide

CONWAY, S.C. (AP) — A jet fighter and a military transport plane on a night-interception training exercise, with the transport as prey, collided and crashed. The Air Force said it had no reports of survivors among the 13 men aboard the two craft.

One witness said of the collision Tuesday night over northeastern South Carolina: "They looked like some Roman candles shooting, then there were pieces flying through the air, burning."

The planes crashed three miles apart in a sparsely settled area of woods and open fields.

Ground parties searched through the night for bodies of the 13 missing men.

State Highway Patrolman said bits of wreckage were scattered over parts of U.S. 701 between Loris and Conway but the roads were not blocked. Hundreds of motorists were attracted to the area.

No damage from the wreckage was reported.

Rescue crews supervised by the Horry County sheriff's office reported finding one body by late evening. There were no reports of survivors.

The crash in this area of northeastern South Carolina occurred at about 7:30 p.m. EST 20-25 miles northeast of Myrtle Beach Air Force Base, the Pentagon said.

Details of how the collision occurred were sketchy, but the sheriff's department said that witnesses reported seeing one of the planes explode. There was no official confirmation of this, however.

Witnesses told rescue crews of seeing a burning parachute, according to the sheriff's department. There were no other reports of parachutes, deputies said.

The C130 transport was from Pope Air Force Base in North Carolina, according to the Pentagon. The F102 was from McEntire Air National Guard near Columbia, S.C., and was said by the Pentagon to be attached to the 169th Fighter Interceptor Group there.

LONELY SURVIVOR — Fire Chief Maynard Denen comforts a small dog inside the George Baker residence, 706 E. Paint St., where three children died in a fire that raced through their home just after midnight Wednesday.

The dog, apparently the Baker family pet, is sitting on the remains of the couch where the body of 3-year-old George Baker Jr. was discovered.

Butz to remain as Ag secretary

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon announced today that Earl Butz will remain as secretary of Agriculture but that Peter G. Peterson is leading his post as Commerce secretary and will be replaced by South Carolina textile magnate Frederick B. Dent.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Peterson would take on a temporary special mission for Nixon, traveling to Europe, Japan and other countries to discuss economic matters with U.S. trading partners. Then, Ziegler said, Peterson will return to private life.

Shortly before the official announcement, the choice of Dent was reported in Washington by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

Dent has been president of Mayfair Mills in Arcadia, S.C., since 1947. Dent, 50, is a graduate of Yale and a leader in state and national textile associations.

Nixon is expected to announce soon that he will retain Richard Kleindienst as attorney general.

The reappointment of Butz had been expected.

John Volpe is slated to step down as transportation secretary and to be nominated as ambassador to Italy, land of his ancestors. And Peter G. Peterson is reported in line for a switch from commerce secretary to a new post as overseer of U.S. international economic policy.

Nixon announced Tuesday that he will nominate Undersecretary of Commerce James T. Lynn to succeed George Romney as secretary of housing and urban development, and that he will keep Rogers C. B. Morton as secretary of interior during his second term.

The White House also disclosed Tuesday the resignations of two key Treasury Department officials—Deputy Secretary Charles E. Walker and Asst. Secretary Eugene T. Rossides.

A spokesman said Nixon accepted their resignations "with reluctance and regret" and took pains to stress that their departures were not connected with Nixon's request that all his appointees submit pro forma resignations.

Aides said the President will spend the remainder of the week at his wooded retreat in the Maryland mountains, conferring with aides and advisers as he concentrates on final details of forming his second-term administration.

Ex-President Truman again in hospital

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Dr. Wallace Graham today assessed former President Harry S. Truman's condition as serious, Research Medical Center announced.

Earlier, Truman's condition was listed as fair.

A statement from the hospital at 9:15 a.m. EST by John Dreeves, hospital information director, said Graham had assessed Truman's condition as serious as of 8:55 a.m.

The former president, 88, was taken to the hospital to be treated for what Graham, Truman's personal physician, described as pulmonary congestion, a congestion of the lungs.

The hospital described serious condition as "acutely ill with recovery uncertain. Vital signs may be unstable and not within normal limits. A chance for improved diagnosis."

Dreeves said no further word on Truman's condition would be issued until a scheduled news briefing at 11:30 a.m.

Mrs. Truman spent part of the night with her husband.

Truman was admitted to the hospital at 6:25 p.m. Tuesday after arriving by ambulance from his home in Independence, 10 miles away.

Woods named to Ohio's fair board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan named three men to the Ohio Expositions Commission Wednesday giving the body a majority of Democrats for the first time since he took office.

The three named to the 11-member board, which operates the Ohio State Fairgrounds, are:

J. Ronald Castell, who resigned Dec. 1 as the governor's chief public relations man, Roger May, a Circleville farmer, and Donald Woods, president of the Fayette County Bank of Washington Court House.

The new commission members were scheduled to attend their first meeting on Wednesday at which time officers were to be elected.

Portsmouth store fire loss heavy

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Fire gutted the downtown Factory Outlet shoe store building and caused extensive smoke damage to two adjacent structures Tuesday night.

All of the city's fire units were on the scene for several hours before bringing the blaze under control. There were no injuries.

Threat to Ohio welfare system?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio officials say a federal threat to withhold welfare funds until states tighten up their payment procedures would "almost wreck" Ohio's welfare system.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare threatened Monday to withhold $689 million in federal matching funds starting Jan. 1 because the department said the money isn't being spent properly.

Acting Ohio Welfare Director Robert Canary called the charges "totally unreasonable."

Canary said the reason states often overpay welfare benefits or pay persons who aren't eligible for the money is that the federal government requires that recipients be registered under a "simplified method."

Canary said this means that all a person has to do to receive welfare is to sign a form which says he or she is eligible. The state runs spot checks on the validity of the forms, but not all of them can be verified.

Ohio Senate votes on criminal code revisions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 278-page revision of Ohio's criminal code that would legalize such offenses as homosexuality and adultery and set the stage for retention of the death penalty headed for a Senate floor vote today.

The Senate is to convene to consider the bill—first major revision of the criminal code in 157 years—at 1:30 p.m. The House will meet at 1 p.m., with nothing yet listed for a vote.

Two House committees—Finance and State Government—met last night, but were unable to put out for floor votes two other major measures.

One would have appropriated $69 million in federal revenue sharing funds for the biennium ending June 30, 1973, while the other would have put a series of proposed constitutional amendments on the May primary ballot.

The Senate, in floor action, will vote today on an equal rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution. The measure, which has been pushed by women's organizations, has been in the Senate Rules Committee since April.

The chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, meanwhile, suggested pay raises of 17 per cent for legislators and 20 per cent for county officials. A sub-committee begins hearings at 9:30 a.m.

The criminal code will, which passed the House last March before capital punishment provisions were added, is considered almost a sure bet to end up in a joint House-Senate Conference Committee.

The Senate has already added a number of amendments to the measure, including the one that would allow Ohio to retain the death penalty under certain circumstances, such as the killing of a police officer or a public official.

The capital punishment provision, added after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the death penalty unconstitutional in most cases, has taken the spotlight away from the bill's sex crime changes.

Under the bill, current crimes such as homosexuality and adultery would be legalized if permitted by consenting adults in private.

The House Finance Committee, short of the necessary votes to move anything last night, will meet again today on the bill appropriating federal revenue-sharing funds.

The Republican-sponsored bill has already met opposition from Democrats who will control the House—as well as the governor's office—next year.

"There is simply no need or reason to rush the enactment of federal revenue-sharing appropriations without thorough study..." said Robert Baker, assistant finance director.

"I know of no federal rule or regulation," he said, "which requires action today on the appropriation of federal revenue-sharing funds for fiscal year 1973."

The State Government Committee is studying five constitutional amendment proposals, including one that would require the governor and lieutenant governor to run as a team in the general election.

The issues, wrapped up in one package, were stricken from last May's ballot by the Ohio Supreme Court. It ruled the package "too bulky" and said it should be broken up.

One of the five amendments would allow legislators, if voters approve, to set their own "reasonable expenses." Sen. Michale Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, said he believes it would be unconstitutional.

It was Maloney's Ways and Means Committee that sent to a sub-committee, with his recommendations, a bill that could jump lawmakers' salaries from $12,750 to $15,000.

Sen. Harry Armstrong, R-17 Logan, will head Maloney's three-member sub-committee. Other members are Sens. Clara Weisenborn, R-5 Dayton, and Anthony Novak, D-23 Cleveland.

Top leaders in the House and Senate, under Maloney's proposal, would get jumps from $18,500 to $19,005. The 20 per cent hike for county officials would be across-the-board.

Gov. John Gilligan's pay study commission, headed by former Ohio

Finance Director Howard Collier, a Republican, had recommended hikes of around 11 per cent for legislators, 22 per cent for county officials.

The commission noted that legislators serve at least two-year terms and county officials four years.

Active issues on the Big Board included Gulf Oil, up ¼ to 26¼. Gulf was Tuesday's volume leader as a large secondary offering was sold at 26.

On the American Stock Exchange, Milgo Electronic, which had reported improved earnings, was active and ahead 1 to 27, gaining for the third session in a row.

At noon the New York Stock Exchange index was down .01 to 64.35.

The Amex's price-change index was up .01 to 26.66.

Wintry storms sweep wide areas of U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blizzard pounded the Sierra Nevada mountains early today with gale-force winds to 70 miles per hour, heavy snow and below zero temperatures.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for northern California and eastern Oregon and travelers advisories were issued for nearby areas because of strong winds and drifting snow. Gale warnings were flying along the west coast north of Point Reyes, Calif.

Winds up to 55 m.p.h. roared through Portland, Ore., as heavy snow accumulated in parts of Oregon, Washington and northern California to near sea level.

The central continent was in the icy grip of a storm centered over the Graat Lakes. Bitter cold air over the plains produced sleet, snow, freezing rain and thunderstorms.

Heavy snow warnings were in effect for Wisconsin and Upper Michigan and travelers were warned of freezing rain and drizzle from Oklahoma to Michigan.

A cold wave warning was posted for parts of Oklahoma and Texas, where temperatures fell to near zero in the panhandles. Denver's thermometer hit 12.

The same central continent storm produced numerous showers and thundershowers in the southeast. Two inches of rain fell at Macon, Ga., and an estimated 4 inches soaked areas south of Macon during the night.

Property loss in .3 mishaps

City police and Fayette County sheriff's deputies investigated three traffic accidents Tuesday in which there were no injuries and only minor property damage.

No citations were issued.

POLICE

TUESDAY, 9:15 a.m. — A car driven by Vicky D. Hisey, 22, South Solon, backed and damaged a car owned by Willie J. Bailey, 64, of 615 Harrison St., in the First National Bank parking lot at East and North streets; damage minor to both.

SHERIFF

TUESDAY, 12:05 p.m. — A 1959 model truck driven by Darrel R. Cress, 24, West Milton, backed in a parking space on W. High Street in Jeffersonville, and struck a parked car owned by Kenneth S. Walters, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville; damage was listed to the hood of Walters' car.

TUESDAY, 6:10 p.m. — Christopher Jay Hughes, 17, Ketterling, lost control of his 1966 model car on Ohio 729, about 1½ miles north of Jeffersonville, and it struck an embankment and a fence owned by Willard Kirk, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville; damage was listed to the front and both sides of Hughes' car and to two rods of fence.

In floor action Tuesday, the Senate approved a $762,000 sundry claims bill that included a $455,000 claim to reimburse the movie industry for fees it paid under protest of Ohio's censorship laws 20 years ago. The measure now goes to the House.

Familiar faces, new jobs

With one exception, it's been all in the family thus far as President Nixon reshapes his Cabinet for his second administration. Mr. Nixon reached outside his administration team only for a new secretary of labor: his choice, Peter J. Brennan, has for the past 15 years been president of New York City and State Building and Construction Trades Council and will be the first union leader since the Eisenhower era to hold the Cabinet post.

This makes it plain that, although the President is bent on giving things new impetus for the years to come, he intends to do this principally by shifting his team around rather than by bringing in new blood. Doing it this way may have certain advantages: those being moved from one assignment to another will have the stimulus of new challenge, but at the same time the President will avoid the period of mutual adjustment that inevitably follows when a person comes freshly into an administration.

Little exception can be taken to Mr. Nixon's Cabinet choices as of this writing. Elliot Richardson's general background, and specifically his performance as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, inspire confidence in his ability to do as well as anyone can at the enormous job of riding herd on the nation's military establishment. His successor at HEW, Casper Weinberger — also a Harvard man, as it happens — has proved himself as director of the Office of Management and Budget; he is a known quantity, and a dependable one.

Predictions as to Brennan's handling of Labor would have to be offered with less certainty; his generally acknowledged competence as a union leader does not necessarily assure success in the Cabinet. Brennan comes to Washington with the blessing of AFL-CIO President George Meany, however, and this is clearly a favorable augury so far as the administration is concerned.

Though there had been much talk about William P. Rogers' possible replacement as secretary of state, it comes as no great surprise that he will be kept in that post. He has managed unbarbely and rather well at State despite the frustrations of playing second fiddle to Henry A. Kissinger, and has long been notably close to Mr. Nixon. He can be counted on to continue running the diplomatic operation with competence and minimal friction.

Those who anticipated a vigorous shakeup and lots of new faces will be disappointed. We're inclined to think the President has opted for the wiser course by giving new assignments to well seasoned men of proven capability.

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

They won without Nixon help

One the Friday before the election I ran into a well-known Republican senator in the Washington National Airport. Not up for re-election himself, he was off to make a last-minute campaign appearance for some colleagues.

With more prophetic insight than others in his party who thought the Republicans might capture the Senate, he was furious with President Nixon for not assisting candidates for Congress. On election night, as a commentator on TV, he was far more restrained, from which I deduce that he doesn't want to be known as an angry man.

But he did say that the Republicans were still faced with the job of building a party capable of sustaining their position in a country where Democrats continue to outnumber their opponents.

Mrs. Nixon's coattails failed because he did not care whether he had a party victory or not. But if he hopes to battle

Congress in order to hold the line on spending, which is the current word from the White House, he will have to look for help from congressmen who had to struggle through Nov. 7 on their own.

Fortunately there are a few newcomers in Congress who believe even more than Nixon in the necessity of stopping the inflation.

THE American Conservative Union, which used a small "victory fund" of $110,000 with great acumen to produce a maximum effect, could not match the millions put up by the AFL-CIO's COPE (Committee on Political Education), but it did provide a sum that was very probably crucial in electing philosophical, as contrasted with "glandular," conservatives. Proving, once again, that ideas need only a little hlep from money to make politics.

ACU "bull's-eye" money went to the new Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina on the basis of his nightly editorials on Raleigh's WRAL-TV. The word had gone out that Helms was a "hard liner," and hard liners seldom win in North Carolina. Since Helms was even against the 20 per cent rise in Social Security benefits (on the ground that more than enough is now being taken out of workers' pay checks), it was surprising that he managed to defeat a liberal Democrat, Nick Galifianakis, in the most liberal East Coast Southern state.

The spending issue was surely the most telling one in Virginia, where Congressman William Scott ran for the Senate by stressing the point that he would vote with, not against, Virginia's independent Senator Harry Byrd on conservative issues. The conservatives got still another Republican senator in the New Mexico elections: an ACU taped endorsement of New Mexico's Pete Domenici called attention to the fact that its approved candidate was against a guaranteed annual income plan, against federal financing of day care centers, and for a tax relief to be paid for out of a reduction in the federal budget.

Spotted around the country were some amazing conservative congressional district victories. A year ago Robert Huber formed a Conservative Party in Michigan; this year he ran for Congress on the Republican ticket in Michigan's 18th District.

Huber's opponent, with access to labor money, outspent him three to one, but Huber won on the busing issue and on his anti-spending record in the Michigan Legislature.

In Idaho, Steve Symms was elected by waging what the ACU called "a highly ideological race." His slogan: "Remember, I will not serve us. I will protect our rights." And in Wisconsin, in the 8th District, Harold Froelich, the State House speaker, parlayed his local opposition to high taxes into a national congressional victory. Froelich is hated by the liberals for helping to throw a group of toughs led by Father James Groppi out of the State Legislature a few years ago when the seizure of buildings was all the rage.

In Florida, L.A. ("Skip") Bafalis won a U.S. congressional seat by reiterating his boast that he "never voted for one cent of new taxes" as a state legislator. And in Louisiana, David Treen became the first Republican elected to Congress from his state in the 20th Century. The new group — Huber, Symms, Froelich, Bafalis, Treen and a few others — will make life less lonely on the Hill for Rep. Phil Crane and John Ashbrook, who have had little thanks from Nixon for upholding the Nixon line on spending.

Nixon could have more Helmses, more Hubers and more Treens in 1974, but not if he dares to get out and work for those who work for his more conservative domestic policies.

Airbag deadline lifted by court

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A federal court told the U.S. government today to delay implementation of standards requiring airbag-type safety devices in automobiles produced after Aug. 15, 1975.

In a 2-1 opinion, the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that testing standards for so-called "passive" safety devices such as airbags, which act automatically without aid from automobile passengers, must be refined.

The court told the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to delay its ordered implementation of passive restraints "until a reasonable time" after it devises and issues new test specifications.

TO: State Highway Department and City Council

GENTLEMEN: We understand that the intersection of Columbus Avenue and Elm Street has been under study several times regarding traffic flow and hazards. We will agree that it is a busy corner and your study is warranted. Wouldn't it be nice, especially for inbound traffic, if the apron along the curb were paved to create a "through traffic" lane. Also, it would improve outbound flow if a turn lane were painted in front of the Borden Burger Restaurant and the entrances to Washington Square Shopping Center.

Letters To Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:)

In the Gospel of Luke, Christ tells the story of the rich fool whose only concern was for more wealth for his physical enjoyment. He is called a fool.

We recognize the place and value of business in our time. But we also recognize the danger of that business when it drowns human values and crowds out spiritual standards.

One of those values, commanded by God Himself is the place of the Sabbath.

We commend those merchants who feel that they should be closed on the Sabbath day. They are to be encouraged in their policy and told that their stand is appreciated.

From the viewpoint of the commands of God their way is one of example. From the viewpoint of our families made up of working people who can be at home with their other members when those stores are closed, we are grateful. We know that modern life is tiring, and we believe that one day a week must be spent relaxing with no business worries or we soon begin to wear out.

We recognize that there are some businesses of necessity that must remain open. We commend the drug stores of the city who take turns in remaining open so that customers may get needed items.

But when businesses remain open to make it easier for our people to misuse the Sabbath, then we cannot keep silent. There are six other days in the week, and we feel that anyone, no matter what his job or position, can find time to do the needed buying on those days.

We encourage residents of the area to patronize those stores who follow the commands of God and ask others who use the Sabbath for business to consider what they are doing to themselves and to the nation's values.

Herbert Perrill, 3018 Harmony Rd., and a member of the Capital University Women's Chorus, where she is a freshman majoring in voice at the Conservatory of Music, will appear in three concerts in Columbus. The first two concerts will be Dec. 8 and 9 at 8:15 p.m. in Mees Hall, and the third at 4 p.m. Dec. 10 in the Ohio Theater.

Later she will give a recital before members of the Conservatory faculty, a rare distinction of being a freshman.

The Women's Chorus is directed by Richard Johnston.

Tastier!

Cream your coffee with Milnot instead. A richer taste than milk or half-and-half ... but fewer calories and less than half the cost.

Milnot ... it makes the best of a good cup of coffee.

Marriage vows exchanged in St. Colman's Church

MRS. RONALD D. SMITH

Miss Brenda Louise Lilienkamp, daughter of Mrs. James E. Lilienkamp, 7 Heritage Court, and Ronald D. Smith, son of Mrs. P.D. Smith, 906 S. Main St., exchanged marriage vows in St. Colman Catholic Church at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar enhanced with altar vases filled with white gladioli, mums and pompons, with touches of blue, green and burgundy. White satin and green fern marked the pews.

Mill Lilienkamp chose for her wedding a formal gown of candlelight ivory chiffon velvet. The fitted basque bodice featured a deep V lace yoke, ruffled outlined and a frilled Victorian neckline. The lace was repeated at the deep fitted cuffs of the full bishop sleeves. A swirling flounce encircled the hemline of the softly gathered skirt.

Her long flowing silk illusion mantilla was edged with a wide band of lace and caught to a lace-covered camelot bonnet. The bride's only jewelry was a cameo pin worn by her grandmother and she carried a hand-made lace handkerchief which was made by her great-great-grandmother. She carried a modified cascade of white miniature carnations, stephanotis, with touches of blue, green and burgundy caught with satin bridal showers.

Miss Darlene Lilienkamp served as maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Miss Pamela Roeckner, of Dayton, and Mrs. Carol Elliott, of here. They wore formal gowns in jewel tones of emerald, royal and ruby, with velvet skirts, softly gathered, and finished with a ruffle at the hemline. A high neckline and circular ruffle added interest to the ivory guipure lace bodice. They each carried a hurricane lamp with lighted taper encircled with blue and green carnations and burgundy pompons with matching velvet streamers. They wore matching headpieces.

David Loudner served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Robert Minshall and Michael McNamee, all of Washington C.H.

The bride's mother wore a formal length A-line gown of turquoise knit, with mandarin collar banded in silver braid and the long full sheer sleeves ended in cuffs banded in silver. Her accessories were of silver and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Hostesses for the reception held in Lafayette Inn immediately following the wedding, were Mrs. Royce McGhee, Mrs. Steven Merritt, and Mrs. William Stahl, all of here, and Mrs. J.B. Campbell, of Springfield, Ill., who presided at the guest book. The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake topped with live flowers and encircled with greenery and matching flowers. Silver candelabra and crystal punch bowls completed the setting.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Cumberland Lake, Ky., the new Mrs. Smith was wearing a pink plaid suit and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return, they will reside on McLean St.

The new Mrs. Smith and her husband are both graduates of Washington Senior High School. She is employed by The New Craig's and her husband is employed as office manager of the Cudahy Company here.

Dear Abby:

Sharing shoes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Apropos the amputee who voiced complaint over the necessity of purchasing two shoes when only one was needed: She or he should have mentioned her shoe size and which appendage had been pruned — and the changes are that several shoe-mates might have been responded.

I'm an amputee myself, and I'm always on the prowl for a female, minus her left leg, who wears a size 6-B. Sharing shoes can be the basis for a beautiful friendship. Her left for my right is a profitable swap. Since the demise of the shoe exchange — originally in St. Louis and then Santa Monica — amputees are pretty much on their own. Of course, an amputee can have a custom-designed shoe made, but this is usually more costly than purchasing a pair and discarding one.

I am an old hand — or I guess I should say an "old foot" — at this business. I've used crutches for almost 55 years.

LOUISE

DEAR LOUISE: I have some wonderful news for you. If you want to know where in your area you can buy one shoe, write to me. One shot in my column asking readers if they knew of such a place brought hundreds of responses. Unipeds of the world — unite. It's a shoe-in!

DEAR ABBY: Let "AFRAID OF DOGS" try this: If a dog approaches in a menacing manner, say, "Shalom!" in a firm but cordial way. Keep repeating it until the dog retreats and stops barking.

I tried this once by accident, and it worked, so now I do it every time a dog looks like it is going to attack me. As many as three barking dogs have come toward me at once, and I kept repeating, "Shalom, Shalom," and, thank goodness, it always worked.

SHALOM IN LOUISVILLE

DEAR SHALOM: Those dogs must have boned up on their Hebrew!

DEAR ABBY: If your recent column on fire safety saves one life, its worth becomes priceless. May I add to it?

The day I arrived home from the hospital, virtually helpless in a heavy cast, the fire chief paid me a visit. He noted the nature of my disability, and pointed out alternate escape routes. He then placed a large red fluorescent sticker on my front door to notify the first responding fire fighter that there was an invalid in the house.

When I could walk again, I notified the fire department. They came and removed the sticker to prevent firemen from risking their lives and wasting precious time on a needless search.

Thank heavens, nothing happened in the interim, but it was most reassuring to know that somebody cared and was prepared.

W. K., ALAMEDA, CAL.

DEAR W. K.: Many other communities also take such precautions, but congratulations to Alameda for having received the highest national award for its first-prevention efforts.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column from the woman who said she was looking for a man who put God first in his life, his family second, and his business last, interested me.

I once knew such a man. He's now a Catholic priest. Sign me, "LOST OUT" . . . or

Hai Boyle . . . Remarks for dentists

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a dentist gets tired of hearing:

"I can't keep my appointment today, Doc. Anyway, the pain is all gone now."

"Ou-u-u-ch! That hurts."

"You simply have to save them. I'd die if I had to wear a lower plate, too."

"I know I'd get used to them quicker if I wore them all the time. But my mouth feels so much better when I take them out."

"Who makes more money — dentists, heart specialists or bank presidents?"

"Don't you get tired spending all day just looking into people's mouths?"

"I can't keep my appointment today, Doc. We're having the apartment painted, and I wouldn't dare leave

Tax sharing checks ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal revenue-sharing checks go into the mail this week and the Treasury Department advises cities and states not to be surprised if they get less than expected.

Charles E. Walker, deputy Treasury secretary, said Monday that the complex formula under which state and local government allotments are figured will not be updated until early next year.

The local governments, Walker said, should be patient until the department publishes the full information on which the checks were based.

Some 39,000 governmental jurisdictions should receive federal payments under the revenue sharing plan, approved by Congress and President Nixon this year.

The first checks will total about $2.7 billion. The present authorization is for a $30-billion program over five years.

Youth seeks Demo slot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Keith Thompson, 18, of Lima, will travel to Washington Friday to campaign for an at-large seat on the Democratic National Committee, which is to select 25 new members on Saturday.

Thompson, the youngest member of the Ohio Delegation at last summer's Democratic convention, stopped in Columbus Monday to visit Gov. John Gilligan and praise him for his refusal to join the fight over replacement of party chairwoman Jean Westwood.

"I just wanted to stop by and let him know I think he's doing the right thing," Thompson said. "I've always let him know when I disagree with him. I thought I'd let him know when I agree with him."

However, Gilligan was not in the office and the message was given to the governor's chief of staff, John Hansen.

The governor has said he would not take a position on Mrs. Westwood's ouster or the election of Robert Strauss of Texas in her place.

these painters alone with all the Christmas gin I've got stored in the closets." "Tell me the truth, Doc. Do I have bad breath? How bad would you say it is? Worse than most of your other patients?" "This is my son, Sidney, Doctor. While you're straightening his teeth, is there anything you can do about his ears? They stick out too far for a boy only 10 years old." "I had a dream last night, Doc. I dreamt that you were sitting in the chair, and I was drilling on you, and you screamed so much I finally woke up. Wasn't that a silly dream?" "Yes, I know I need a bridge, and I know they're expensive. But you're not selling me the Brooklyn Bridge, are you?" "What do you think about while you're putting in fillings? Doesn't your mind ever wander far afield?" "Go ahead, Doc, do any darned thing you want to me — I just finished a four-Martini lunch." "I can't keep my appointment today, Doc. Our cat's having kittens in the basement — right now."

City gets liquor permit money

The City of Washington C. H. has received a supplemental liquor permit fee distribution of $995 from the state, Auditor of State Joseph T. Ferguson announced Tuesday.

The amount was part of a supplemental distribution statewide of $567,690 in liquor permit fees to Ohio's cities, villages and townships in addition to the $9 million distributed earlier this quarter, Ferguson said.

The supplemental distribution goes directly to the political subdivisions having liquor, wine and beer outlets within their boundaries. The money can be used by the political subdivisions in any manner they see fit, since it is credited to their general funds, Ferguson noted.

However, the Board of Liquor Control can order the auditor to transfer the distributive share of any local political subdivision to the liquor control rotary fund if after notice and hearing the board deems that the law enforcement agencies are not enforcing liquor laws.

Environment reports said inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office reports that six federal agencies submitted inadequate environmental-impact statements on projects in seven states.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House fisheries and wildlife conservation subcommittee, Monday cited the report as evidence that federal officials are resisting efforts to "disclose fully all adverse environmental effects of their projects."

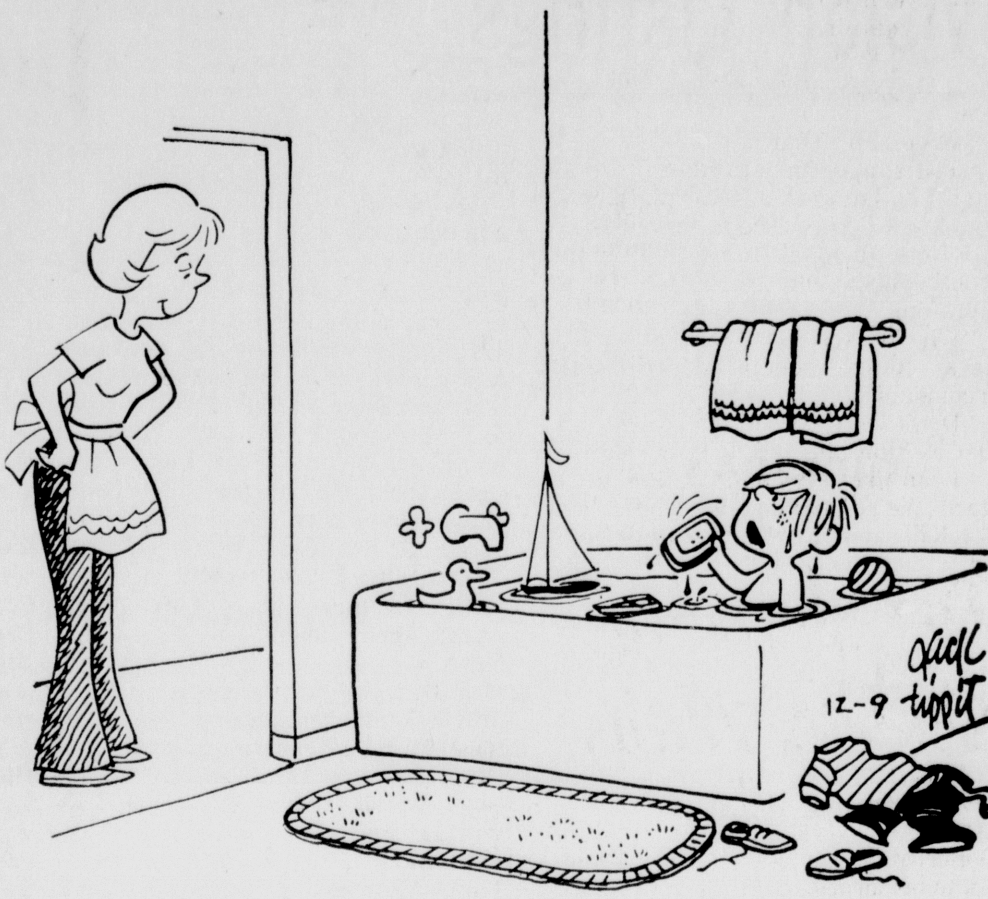

Dingell said he will ask the Council on Environmental Quality to review its guidelines and report to his subcommittee by Feb. 1.

The GAO report covered projects in Indiana, Ohio, New York, New Mexico, Colorado, Oregon and Washington. The agencies involved were the Soil Conservation Service, Federal Highway Administration, Housing and Urban Development Department, Corps of Engineers, Bureau of Reclamation and the Forest Service.

The GAO said the agencies were "definitely concerned" about the impact on the environment of their projects.

However, it said, the faults of the East German arrives for U.N. session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The first East German official to come to the United Nations arrived at New York's Delmonico Hotel with cartons of phonograph records.

Dr. Horst Grunert, the Communist German regime's first observer at U.N. headquarters, is an amateur archeologist as well as a music lover. His record collection ranges from Strauss waltzes to Stravinsky, and includes lots of works by German and Russian composers of the 20th century.

The reports included "inadequate discussion of, and support for, identified environmental impacts; inadequate treatment of reviewing agencies' comments on environmental impacts, and inadequate consideration of alternatives and their environmental impacts."

The reports are required by a 1969 law on national environmental policy.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

2 uncles: Furu and Carb

Boils and carbuncles of the neck seem to plague me. Could these be caused by a deficiency of vitamins or by poor diet?

I am otherwise very healthy and weigh almost 200 lbs. I have no difficulty in my heavy-duty job.

Mr. T. A., Md.

Dear Mr. A.:

A boil, or furuncle, is a small collection of pus. It is almost always caused by the staphylococcus germ. Often boils occur in clusters in the same area of the skin.

A carbuncle is a far more serious infection. It affects the underlying layers of the skin and the muscle beneath it.

An inadequate diet and vitamin deficiency may devitalize the body and make a person more susceptible to such skin infections. However, in a person of your size, who undoubtedly eats a nourishing diet, the chances are greater that some local skin irritation is causing your problem.

Some medical conditions such as diabetes, and other debilitating conditions, may predispose some people to infections of this type.

The irritation of starched collars may abrade the skin and allow bacteria to be introduced.

Lubricating the skin around the neck to prevent "collar rub" is one thing you might try.

Some doctors are enthusiastic about using a staphylococcus vaccine to immunize people against recurring and troublesome bouts of boils and carbuncles.

Its value and effectiveness are not completely accepted by physicians everywhere.

More important is rigid cleanliness and hygiene in the area of these recurrent infections.

Prompt treatment of tiny insignificant infections with wet dressings, and antibiotics if suggested by the doctor, can prevent complications of these superficial infections.

My mother had an operation for a "telescope" condition of the intestine. Can you explain what this is?

Miss R. W., Ark.

Dear Miss W.:

This descriptive term refers to a condition known as "intussusception." A portion of the small intestine actually telescopes itself into the wider opening of the large intestine.

The condition is more commonly seen in children below the age of four.

As soon as it is recognized and diagnosed, operation is performed immediately.

This type of obstruction of the bowel must be relieved as quickly as possible to be sure that greater complications do not set in.

Specter of treason dies on Blennerhassett Island

By WAYNE SLATER
 Associated Press Writer
 PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — The specter of treason, which has haunted the Blennerhassett Island for decades and successfully blocked efforts to establish a tourist industry on the historical tract, seems to have died a quiet death.

Recently, a six-member legislative commission appropriated $4,000 to study the feasibility of staging an elaborate dramatic production on the island.

The production, entitled "Eden on the River," deals with the mysterious relationship in 1809 between Harmon Blennerhassett and former Vice President Aaron Burr, without ever suggesting the two might have been plotting against the government to seize land and set up a kingdom.

Members of the Blennerhassett Historical Commission, with a total of $22,000 in state and federal money to work with, have been anxious to play down any notion of treasonous activities between the men.

If the specter of treason has died in western West Virginia, money and tourism probably wielded the sword. The W. Va. Dept. of Commerce reports: "...a major development of the recreational, marine, convention and historical facilities of Blennerhassett Island could serve in time as one of the leading single industries in Wood County."

John Lee, one of three dramatists who wrote the new musical drama, said, "We have been fascinated by the story because of what we felt history has done to Aaron Burr. To unequivocally say that he was guilty of treason is wrong. Nobody knew what his complete plans were." Lee, whose dramatic experience includes work in television, on and off-

Broadway and with the Actor's Studio West in Hollywood, has spent the last three years studying the enigmatic Burr-Blennerhassett relationship.

"In 'Eden on the River,' we present Burr as a visionary, as a utopian," said Lee. "His plan was simply to find his utopia, his perfect land to the west."

The production opens with Burr's second visit to the island, follows the friendship and closes with "Beyond the Sun," a number expanding on Burr's search for his utopian land.

Ask Ross County state park funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has asked the federal government for $67,040 in matching funds to permit acquisition of 258 acres in Ross County for the proposed Great Seal State Park. Director William Nye said if the federal government provides the money, the state will supply another $67,040 for the property. The land includes Mount Logan, which appears on the Great Seal of Ohio.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
 AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It is far better to light one candle than curse the darkness. Bear that in mind as the CBS, NBC and ABC television networks cover the last of the great candle-lightings tonight.

It's the Apollo 17 launch from Cape Kennedy, Fla., heading for America's last manned moon landing in the foreseeable future. Network television coverage of it will start shortly after 9:30 p.m. EST if the launch isn't delayed.

For the old hands on the Cape, the night probably will contain an equal blend of jubilation, sadness, nostalgia and, if the burn is good, hard liquor in the saloons of nearby Cocoa Beach after the launch.

For Jay Barbree, the blastoff of astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Ronald E. Evans and Harrison H. Schmitt is a far cry from the first blastoff he covered for NBC News as a radio reporter.

A mouse was the only living thing aboard the rocket then. The day was July 21, the year 1958 and the missile a puny Thor-Able rocket that made a successful 5,000-mile suborbital flight. "They didn't get the mouse back," Barbree recalled. "The poor mouse died."

Barbree, a native of Blakely, Ga., is NBC's resident newsmen at the Cape. You don't normally see him on television during the big ones. He's usually off covering them for the NBC radio network.

Barbree is a full-time resident who has lived in the Cape Kennedy for more than 14 years.

He's seen a lot of minor space launches and most of the big ones—from the Mercury program to preparations for tonight's last Apollo shot.

And although tonight's blastoff will be the most spectacular he's covered, he says the one that was the most memorable for him was the Feb. 20, 1962, launch that made John H. Glenn Jr. America's first man in space.

"I felt much closer to it," he said. "Glenn's shot was an achievement, a feeling that 'you've gone into space, you've really gone into space with an orbit.'"

"Even when we got to Apollo 11 and landing men on the moon, it was done so much in bits and pieces that when it actually happened, people talked about it as Apollo. Not as Apollo 11, but as Apollo."

Has the space program generally become a ho-hum event for those watching it on television or hearing about it on radio?

"Sure it has, to the viewer and listener," he said. "But from the journalist's standpoint, the space program still is a darn good story."

"You see, we put too much show biz in the space story to begin with. We depended too much on the lift-off, big programs and all that and people got excited like they do at football games."

"And it wore off," he said. "The 'gee whiz' part of it is gone. But the story isn't gone by any stretch of the imagination. I think now we're really reporting the story and covering what should be covered."

"We're really getting into what this actually is doing for this small planet we're on."

McGovern shuns battle for party control

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern says he is following "a hands-off policy" in the many-sided battle for control of the Democratic party.

The South Dakota senator, who suffered a landslide defeat to President Nixon in last month's presidential election, said in a telephone interview Tuesday, "I don't think there's much chance of anyone withdrawing. Whoever the Democratic National Committee decides on as chairman will have my full support."

McGovern, who picked present Chairman Jean Westwood for the post after he won the Democratic presidential nomination last July, said, "I don't want people saying I'm vetoing anything."

"I want the national committee to meet and review the various candidates and decide" without any attempted influence from McGovern, he said.

Mrs. Westwood, of West Jordan, Utah, has been under considerable pressure to resign as chairman since McGovern's election defeat. She at first said she would resist efforts to oust her, but now says she will step down if there is a consensus on a new chairman who would support recent reforms aimed at opening the party to more young people, women, and minority groups.

Mrs. Westwood says both she and former party Treasurer Robert Strauss of Texas should get out of the race but that she will not step down unless he does.

However, Strauss, whose backers said Monday he has 100 of the 105 votes needed to win the chairmanship, has said he will not withdraw. He has the support of the Democratic Governors Caucus.

The full Democratic National Committee meets here Saturday and is expected to take up the matter at that time. If Mrs. Westwood does not resign the committee would have to vote her out of office before moving to elect a successor.

One of the other likely candidates for the chairmanship is Lawrence F. O'Brien, who on two separate occasions has held the job. An O'Brien supporter said Monday he would make no assessments of O'Brien's strength.

"I think all the national committee members around the country are getting tired of all the calls and literature they've been getting from all the possible candidates," the O'Brien supporter said. Besides Mrs. Westwood, Strauss and O'Brien, George Mitchell of Maine and Charles Manatt of California have said they would seek the post.

Mamie Van Doren marries executive

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Mamie Van Doren has married a corporation executive she met while both were campaigning for President Nixon's re-election, says a spokesman for the couple.

Miss Van Doren, 39, and Ross Mc-

Clintock, 51, were married last week in a Las Vegas church, the spokesman said Monday. It was the third marriage for both.

TV station owner arrested in theft

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Lester White, owner of WSWOTV here, pleaded innocent in Municipal Court Tuesday to a charge of receiving and concealing $50,000 worth of equipment stolen from a Zanesville television station.

Clark County Sheriff's Detective Victor Foster said the equipment, taken from WHIZTV over the weekend, was found in a hanger at the Springfield Municipal Airport.

White also was charged in Zanesville with aiding and abetting a felony, breaking and entering and grand larceny.

Levy committee lists expense

Mrs. Frank Weade, chairman of the committee for passage of the levy for the mentally retarded in the Nov. 7 general election, has filed a statement of expenditures with the Fayette County Board of Elections.

Mrs. Weade's statement reflected expenses of $45.51 during the campaign for the levy's passage.

Health Board takes subdivision action

The Fayette County Board of Health Tuesday afternoon approved the method of sewage disposal for a proposed 16-lot subdivision, approved the development of a remaining lot in another subdivision and considered application for approval of a third subdivision.

Dr. William E. Covert, health commissioner, said the board approved septic tanks and maximum leaching fields as the method of disposal for Clarvin Subdivision, on Prairie Road, on application of Mrs. Irvin Grace, the developer.

Dr. Covert said the board, on the first submission of the Clarvin plat for approval, rejected it with a recommendation that Prairie Knolls Mobile Home Park on Prairie Road, next to the proposed subdivision, be combined with the subdivision and a central sewage system be installed.

The developer resubmitted the plat requesting that septic tanks and maximum leaching fields be installed. The board approved the request on its second submission.

Approval also was granted to H.S. Seaman for the installation of a septic tank on a remaining undeveloped lot in Col-Tem Subdivision No. 1.

The board received application from Robert Lewis for approval of an eight-lot subdivision on Biddle Boulevard in Bloomingburg. However, the board took no action on the plat for the proposed Greenacres Subdivision pending submission of confirmation from Bloomingburg Council that it will supply water to the development.

The board set Dec. 19 as its final meeting of the year to close accounts and authorized transfer of funds to clear some accounts before the final meeting.

Job situation census set for Dec. 11 - 15

During the week of Dec. 11-15, the U. S. Bureau of the Census will conduct its regular monthly survey in this area on employment and unemployment, according to Robert G. McWilliam, director of the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Detroit. This month, the survey will include questions about any farm work done for pay.

Local households in the survey are part of the 50,000 across the country that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all households.

The survey is taken by the bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor. It provides monthly information on conditions in the labor force, prime indicator of the economic health of the nation. The October survey showed that employment was continuing its steady rise which began in 1971, while the unemployment rate of 5.5 per cent was at about the same level as in the previous four months.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is confidential and results are used only to compile statistical totals. Census interviewer in this area is Mary Lou Ward, Chillicothe.

Vandals and souvenir hunters in Rome are attacking so many ancient statues throughout the Italian capital that the city's Antiquities Office now maintains a complete collection of molds of every statue's nose to ensure accurate restoration.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, DEC. 7

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

A day in which you will have to stress your very best judgment. Do not be coerced into any deal or action which you would not consider after probing thought.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Slow down to gather forces more compactly, to conduct activities more adroitly. Don't deviate from pre-planned undertakings for no good reason.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Better-than-average influences. Cooperate astutely. Let nothing of value slip through your fingers. Don't hesitate to advance a new idea or plan.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

This should be a stimulating day, but there are two admonitions: don't take on more than is reasonable, and don't fear failure — both tendencies now.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Avoid hasty judgments. Look more closely at all situations. There may be values not seen at a cursory glance.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Fine stellar influences. Especially favored: Communications, educational pursuits, new techniques, home renovations and community interests.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A fairly productive period, waiting for YOU to inject improved methods to increase potential. Use the investigative approach — but with tact.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

It is difficult for you to contain yourself at times, but this is one of the days you MUST. Otherwise, mix-ups and misunderstandings will ensue.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

It may be a crowded day for you, but you have the mental agility to clear the way. Just do not overtax yourself or burn the proverbial candle at both ends.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Small things may try your patience, but you have the will power to overcome aggravation. Use it! Keep your mind clear so you can act at properly strategic moments.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You should have no trouble carrying out necessary requirements, but this is no time to take on "extras" or to scatter energies. In general, stick to routine.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Rapid progress in some areas and tedious striving with apparently little advancement in others could prove confusing, but it will be "one of those days." Take all philosophically.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely talented and competent individual. Your good judgment, organizing abilities, imagination and benevolence are outstanding. And your gift for mediation would make you an excellent arbiter in labor negotiations, in any dispute of business-financial character. In fact, where business and finances are concerned, there is almost no branch in which you could not succeed but, with your innate executive ability, leadership of a large corporation could almost be called your destiny. The legal field is another fine outlet for your talents but, in your case, it probably wouldn't lead to politics — though you could become an outstanding diplomat or ambassador. Other fields in which you could reach enviable plateaus: literature, journalism, music or the theater.

Indians paid off to leave town

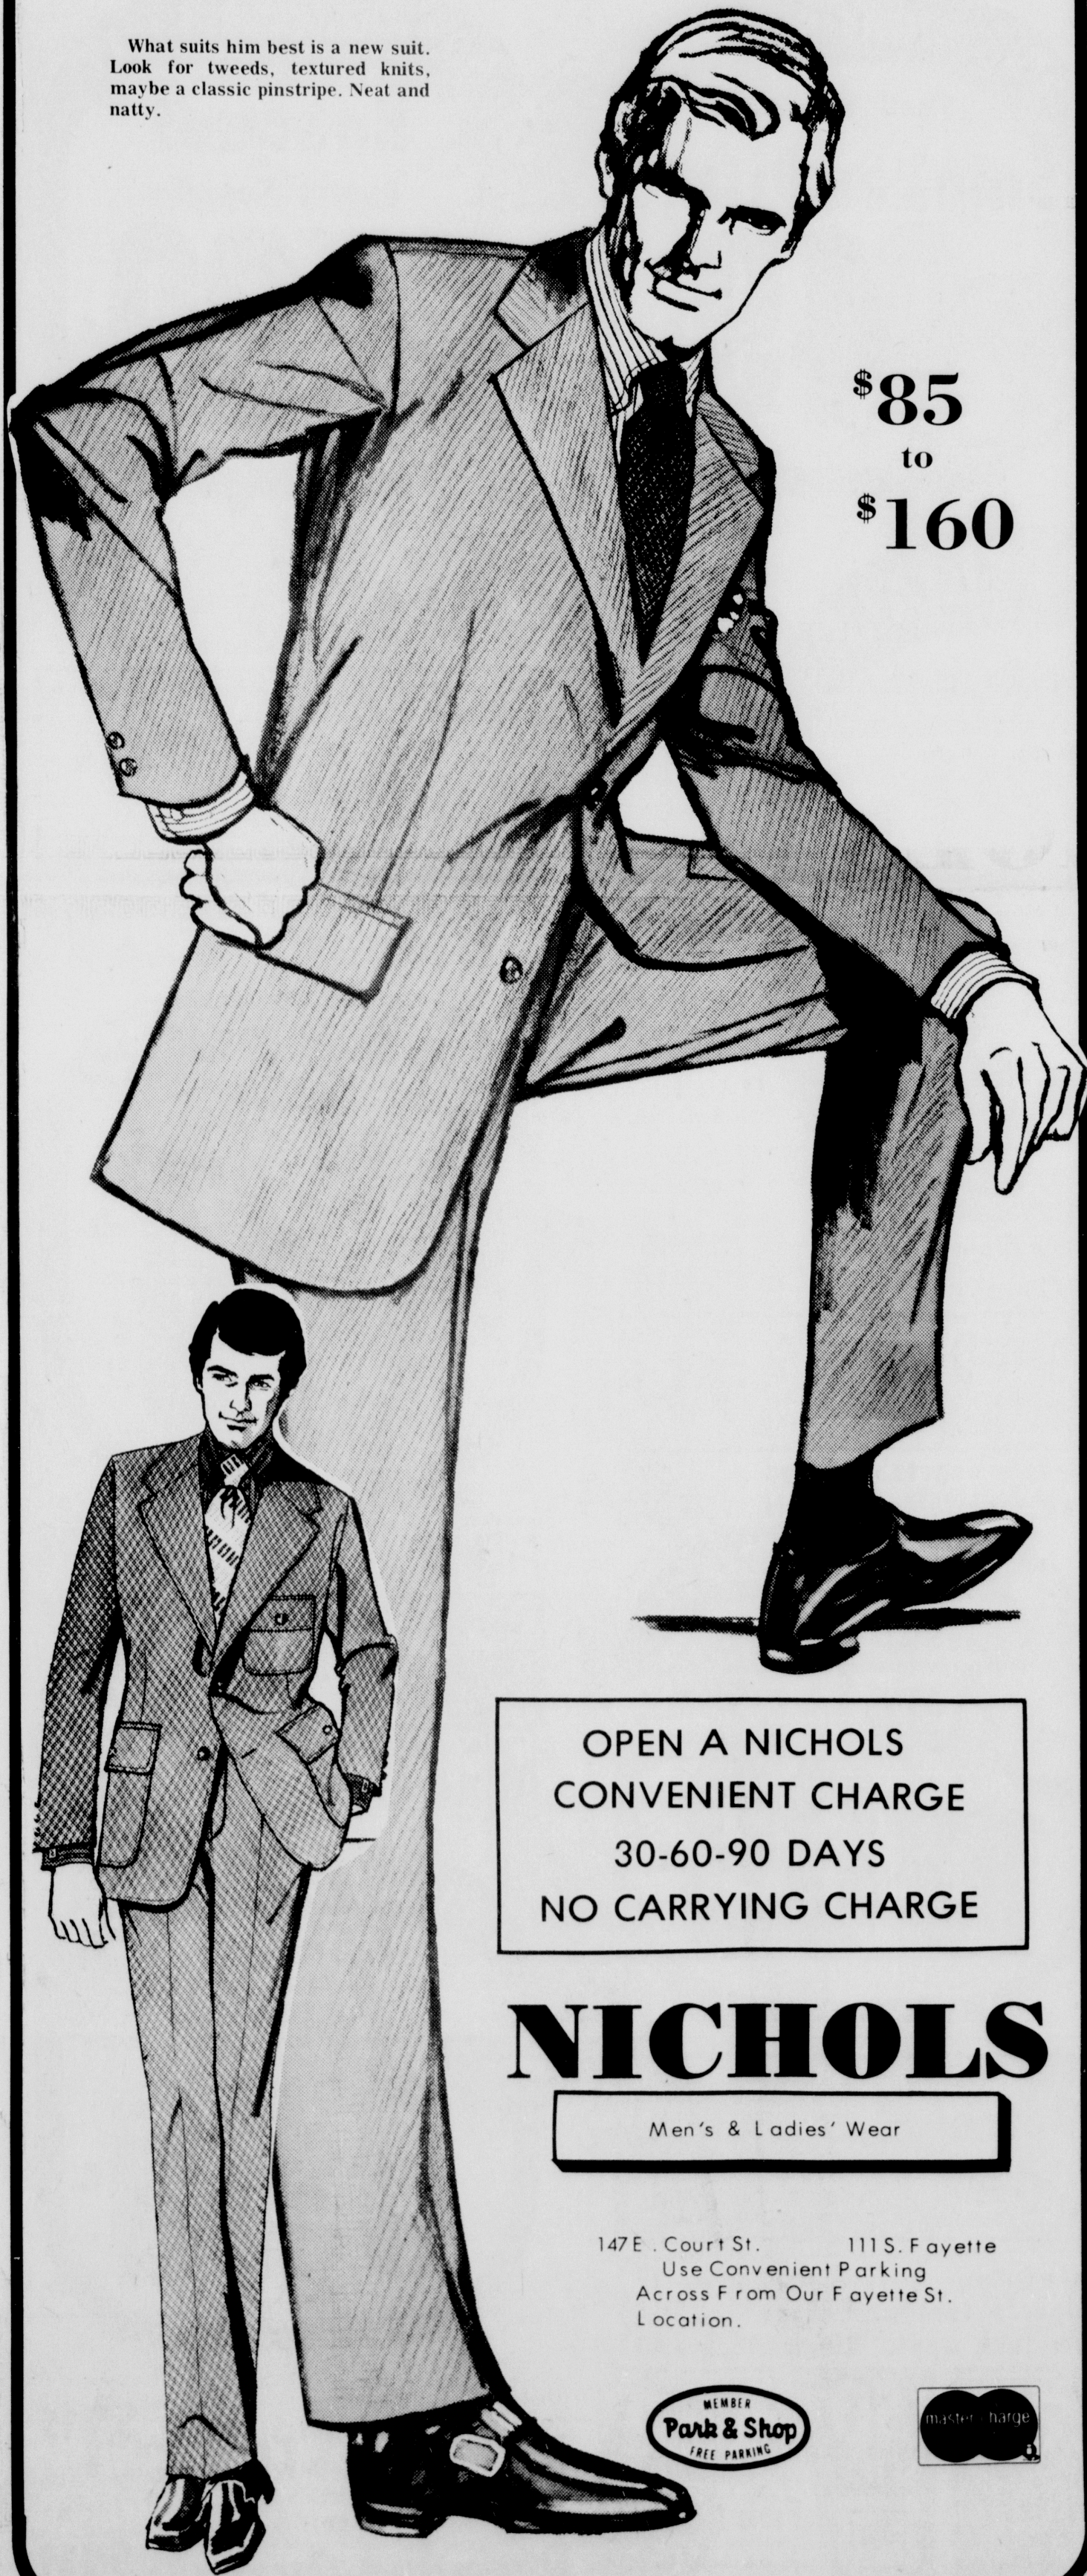

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indian protesters who occupied the Bureau of Indian Affairs Building last month were given almost $67,000 to get them out of town to avert the possibility of violence, a government executive said today.

Frank C. Carlucci, deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget, also told a House Interior Affairs subcommittee that the payment probably saved the government money.

Carlucci, who is directly responsible to President Nixon, said the Office of Economic Opportunity paid $66,650 to the protesters to cover their travel expenses on leaving Washington. He said this was arrived at by allocating 10 cents per mile and $6 a day in travel funds for the 1,200 Indians that the protesters claimed were present.

Ohio prison ombudsman to be 'man in middle'

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As the ombudsman for some 9,000 inmates in Ohio correctional institutions, George E. Miller knows he'll be the man in the middle.

"One onehand they'll say we're coddling prisoners, while reform groups will claim we're not doing enough," said the 30-year veteran of Ohio's penal system.

Miller, who joined the system in 1942 as a $150 a month Ohio Penitentiary guard, plans to hire two deputy ombudsmen to help him with his job.

Both are former inmates who have been working within the corrections system for the past three years.

"With their experience on one side of the fence and my 30 years in the system, we should be able to accomplish a lot," he said.

Miller doesn't say so but it appears the ombudsman's job primarily is aimed at letting inmates get rid of some of the frustrations that build up behind prison walls, sometimes leading to violence.

Miller and his two ex-inmate aides will move into a grievance case upon the orders of Bennett J. Cooper, director of the Department of Rehabilitation and Corrections.

First, he said, the prisoner will use grievance procedures within the various institutions. Each has a liaison officer to act upon the complaint.

If the inmate isn't satisfied, the matter goes to an institution inquiry board. The superintendent or warden then gets a look at the issue.

From there, it goes to Cooper, who can turn it over to Miller for additional investigation.

The entire procedure is quite a change from the days when Miller worked as a penitentiary guard.

"We think more of the inmate as an individual now," he said. "In those days we thought primarily of security."

Miller believes the change in emphasis has been good, with more inmates rehabilitated today.

Creation of a prison ombudsman grew from recommendations of a task force appointed by Gov. John J. Gilligan to study prison reform.

Miller was named to the post last month, but he said he has been serving as ombudsman since the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction was split earlier this year.

Since 1942, Miller has served in five of the eight correctional institutions, working up through the ranks from guard to top administrative positions.

Many of the prisoner grievances, he said, center around parole board action.

"They often can't understand why they are passed over for parole when their behavior has been good,"

Other major complaints concern medical attention, disciplinary action and procedures and stolen personal property, he said.

Classification and transfers is another, Miller said. "Many inmates want into a different institution because it has a training program in a field they are interested in."

He predicted new divisions within the department, including one on program services, would take some of the load off the ombudsman.

Ohio man sentenced for big bank theft

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An Ohio man was sentenced Monday to 20 years in federal prison in the $5 million burglary of an Orange County bank.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne ordered the sentence for Phillip B. Christopher, 29, Cleveland. The man had declined to disclose the whereabouts of the loot.

Charles Mulligan, 38, and his brother-in-law, Amil Dinsio, 36, both from Ohio, each received 20-year sentences last month.

letters already has worked wonders, he said. "The prisoners know they can write anybody they want and they do—the governor, the newspapers and the director."

Hospital adds two executives

A Dayton man and a former Washington C.H. resident have been appointed to fill recently created positions at Memorial Hospital.

Dwight E. Morner, has been named to fill the position of controller, and Ed Jones, a Washington C.H. native has been appointed patient accounts manager.

Morner, currently living in an apartment at 421 E. East St., was with Top Value Enterprises in Dayton for 16 years before accepting the position at Memorial. He is married and has one son and daughter. Morner said he plans to move his family to Washington C.H. next summer.

Jones was associated with Economy Savings and Loan Co. for 10 years and served as manager of the Portsmouth office for the past nine years. Jones

'Philosophy of Coaching' Rotary speaker's subject

Gary Shaffer, head Washington Senior High School basketball coach, bypassed a coach's usual approach in talking before a group when, instead, he outlined his philosophy of coaching, rather than talk about the team, the players and prospects for the season at the Rotary Club luncheon in the Country Club Tuesday.

He said, he enjoys working with boys and teaching them to play together because "basketball is a team game." He added that he reminds the players constantly that there will be setbacks, sometimes of their own making and sometimes from their reactions to the referee's decisions, which they must learn to overcome. He said discipline which is too often lacking among youth of today, is vital to any team game and that this is one of the things he stresses in coaching basketball.

All a coach can do, he said, is ask the players to do their best. He took occasion to denounce fans "who jump on the players when they make mistakes." He commented that "the fans can be sure the boys don't make mistakes on purpose."

He said the basketball rules have been changed so drastically, the job of the officials has become more difficult and complicated. Many of the decisions on rule violations now are "judgement calls," he pointed out, and may not be understood completely by the spectators not familiar with the rule changes.

Max Lawrence, program chairman, said in his introduction that Shaffer and his philosophy have brought basketball into clearer focus in this traditionally football community.

Chris Humphries, of MTHS, was the student guest at the meeting and Dennis Ulrich was the guest of James Kiger. Visiting Rotarians were Bill Keats, of Columbus, Bill Kennedy, of Greenfield, Darrell French, of Wilmington, and Merrill Kaufman, of Delaware.

Guinea pigs, raised on scraps and greens right in the kitchen, were the main source of meat for the Incas before the discovery of South America.

Man's reputation worth $350,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Franklin County Common Pleas jury has awarded Robert K. Landrum, now of Lexington, Ky., $350,000 in his $600,000 libel suit against Alex R. Dombey.

Landrum charged that Dombey, who was a stockholder and bank director at the First State Bank and Trust Co. of Columbus, wrote letters to the bank's directors in 1966 that led to Landrum's firing.

Landrum is now a teacher at Kentucky State College.

Nation's fertility rate dips

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time, the nation's fertility rate has dropped below the "replacement" level of 2.1 children per family that is needed to achieve zero population growth, the New York Times reports.

While the nation's population is still growing, it appears that the annual rate of increase this year will be about 0.7 per cent, little more than half the annual rate of 1.3 per cent averaged during the 1960s, the Times said.

The Times gave this account, based on new figures in the federal Monthly Vital Statistics Report:

For 19 consecutive months both the birth rate and the number of actual births each month has been lower than in the same month the year before.

Figures for the first nine months of this year showed the estimated fertility rate was 2.08 children per family. This compares to 2.39 children per family for the same period of 1971.

Analysts say the significance of the new rate is that the country has broken through the "2.1 barrier" for the first time.

The 2.1 children-per-family figure is what the nation would need to eventually stabilize its population, assuming no immigration, and this is the goal of the zero population growth movement.

The figure is 2.1 rather than 2 to account for girls who die before reaching child-bearing age.

If the 2.1 fertility rate were maintained for 70 years the population would stabilize at about 320 million. It is now about 209.3 million.

The fertility rate decline is attributed by population experts to a variety of factors, including the desire of women to have smaller families, the growing proportion of young women who stay single, the number of married women who are having children later, the number of working wives, more effective contraception and liberalizing of abortion laws.

Crop losses in millions?

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — An unusually wet autumn in the Midwest has bogged down the harvest schedule and may cost farmers millions of dollars.

The storms have left fields too wet to harvest and unable to bear the weight of heavy farm equipment.

Especially hard hit are grain and soybean farmers in the Wabash Valley of Indiana. A year ago Warren Langdon's grain elevator in Wabash, Ind., processed 100,000 bushels of soybeans and 150,000 bushels of corn in November.

By mid-November this year his elevator had handled only 30,000 bushels of corn and 100 bushels of soybeans.

Before the rains came, the Department of Agriculture estimated November's corn crop would be 5.4 billion bushels, a 3 per cent increase over 1971, and a soybean harvest of 1.35 billion bushels, a 15 per cent increase.

Bear cages used to ship hashish

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — An international hashish smuggling ring that has been using the cages of live Himalayan bears to hide contraband has been broken up in the mountains of Northern California, federal agents say.

U.S. Customs officers said Monday four men have been arrested and about half of an estimated $500,000 worth of hashish has been recovered.

But the two bears used to transport the hashish escaped before agents closed in on the remote mountain town of Big Bend, 240 miles northeast of San Francisco, they added.

Nashville to get big-time rock

By ALAN WILSON
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Nashville—the town of country fiddlers, mountain pickers and the high hill whine—could be on the verge of breaking loose with its first big-time rock group.

It's no secret that the Nashville Sound has been reaching far and near in recent times. What used to be home for only hardcore country music now harbors country rock, country blues, popular, folk and a youngish version of bluegrass.

Yet there's one thing Nashville never has produced: a widely recognized rock group.

Those days, too, promise to end. The first to do it could be a six-man group called "Jubal" — handpicked from Oklahoma, Alabama and Tennessee about a year ago by Combine Music Co.

Its members have backgrounds delving into the classical, blues and country music fields, as well as rock. The end product reflects their diversity—with everything from a foot-stomping boogie beat, to a soft rock to lyrical ballads.

It's this striking aspect about Jubal which, more than anything else, has enabled them to emerge with a sound emulating hard, chunky rock but maintaining a Top 40 appeal.

All of them are songwriters. And when six songwriters put their heads together and decide to join the world of performers, something's got to give. It has. And it's good.

Says Randy Cullers, drummer-vocalist: "Our look at success is different. We didn't get together and say, 'Now what can we do that's different?'"

"We're just out to play good music," interrupts lead guitarist Alan Rush.

Cullers, 28, grew up in Oklahoma in a home filled with country-western music. His parents were so far removed from rock that he never dared tell them he was a rock drummer who had several songs published.

Rob Galbraith, 28, gives the group its greatest diversity. The roots of his musical experience are buried deep in blues. His ballads, together with solo shots on the acoustic guitar and piano can hold an audience spellbound—as if it's flabbergasted to see the sudden shift from rock to soft work.

Rush, 27, also was reared in an Oklahoma country music atmosphere. Through it all, though, he's emerged with a guitar that thrashed the hard slide sounds or the chordy rock 'n roll beat.

Ed "Lump" Williams, 25, of Birmingham, is the group's bass guitarist, something he does with a rhythm and blues flair reminiscent of the Deep South black man's music.

The group's most musically unorthodox character is Bobby Ogden, who until a few years ago was strictly a classical musician. Now concentrating on the organ, Ogden's repertoire of music is heavily felt in the group's sound.

The lead vocalist is Terry Dearmore, 25, also an Oklahoma product. The greatest influence on his style quite obviously reverts to the sound made famous by Stills, Nash and Young—and often deals with metaphors. Terry doubles on the harmonica and rhythm guitar.

"Things are now beginning to equalize and we're jelling together," said Rush of the second album.

"The impact of the group has really increased with our latest stuff. We weren't a real live in the flesh group at the time we cut the first album. We were more or less studio musicians," injected Cullers.

The infant baboon depends on its mother exclusively for both companionship and protection.

Domenico named to All-Ohio grid team

MIKE DOMENICO

Mike Domenico, the Washington C.H. Blue Lions' star, was named today to The Associated Press' All-Ohio Class AA football team.

Domenico, a 6-foot-1, 201-pounder who captured the center position on the All-Central District all-star first team recently, was named the offensive center on the elite second offensive team.

The hard-nosed Washington C.H. team captain, who was the Blue Lions' starting offensive center for the past three seasons when he earned three varsity letters, is also a candidate for the Ohio High School North-South all-star football game which will be played in Canton Aug. 10.

Domenico, the All-South Central Ohio League center after sparking head coach Maurice Pfeifer's Blue Lions to a fine 6-4 all-games record, led the team with 100 tackles and also was awarded the team's weightlifting trophy this year.

Panthers facing rugged road tour Tigers, Chillicothe on MT's cage chart

By MIKE FLYNN

Record-Herald Sports Editor

The quick-starting and once-beaten Miami Trace Panthers are faced with a grueling two-game road tour road tour this weekend.

Miami Trace, owner of a tidy 2-1 all-games record, will visit South Central Ohio League buddy Greenfield McClain Friday night in what is annually the most dreaded road trip among SCOL basketball teams, and complete the season's first twinbill with a journey to Chillicothe Saturday for a rugged non-league appointment.

The Panthers, who are involved in a three-way knot atop the SCOL standings with Washington C. H. and Circleville, will be looking for their second straight win of the season when the rugged weekend trip opens on Greenfield's crowded court.

AVETERAN-STUDED Chillicothe teams will provide the third non-league test of the season for head coach Jan Stauffer's charges Saturday when the Panthers start looking for their second win in three outings against outside competition.

Miami Trace, which rattled Hillsboro 91-57 in last Friday night's SCOL debut, will be hoping to pad a lopsided 19-3 series advantage over Greenfield in the 8 p.m. fracas.

Greenfield, the defending SCOL champion, is suffering from the graduation loss of its entire starting lineup from the splendid 16-2 edition a year ago and will be hoping to crack a two-game tailspin after setbacks at Ross Southeastern and Washington C. H.

Head coach Sam Snyder is beginning his rebuilding task with a pint-sized team which includes only three returning lettermen from last year's SCOL championship version.

BEDDY KENNEDY, a handy 5-foot-8 backcourt ace, is Greenfield's top pointmaker with a tidy 16.5 average after two games. The speedy senior, who netted 16 points in Greenfield's setback to Washington C. H. last Friday night, will probably be joined in the Tiger backcourt by 5-foot-7 senior Danny Raika.

Larry Crabtree and Curtis Carmen, both forwards in Greenfield's lineup, are Snyder's other seasoned hands.

Crabtree, a hard-nosed 5-foot-11 senior, has been rattling the nets at 14.0 rate, while the 6-foot-1 Carmen, the tallest Tiger Snyder has to offer, has scored only nine points in the two outings.

Bob Trego, a husky-built 6-foot-0 senior transfer student from Prestonburg, Ky., will probably round out Greenfield's full-time manpower from his pivot position.

Greenfield has adequate bench strength, but the spares, like the regulars, area also small and lacking varsity experience.

SLENDER George Hamilton, a 5-foot-11 senior who popped in 13 points against Washington C. H., and Mike Anderson, a 6-foot-0 senior, will be available to spell the cornermen and hard-working Dan Strain, a solid 5-foot-9 junior, will see duty in the backcourt.

Tom Cuppett, now in his fourth season as Chillicothe's head basketball coach, has a nucleus of five returning lettermen — four of which were full-timers a year ago — to bolster his hopes this season.

Chillicothe, which registered a 10-10 all-games and 6-4 mark in the Central Ohio League a year ago, owns a 1-1 record this season after popping Jackson 91-39 in the season opener and dropping a 65-63 decision to Portsmouth.

Mark Bayless, a smooth-shooting 6-foot-1 junior, is Chillicothe's gem. Bayless was the Cavaliers' assist leader with 112 a year ago and top rebounder before suffering a shoulder injury during a freak accident on a Chillicothe playground which forced him to the sidelines for tournament play.

BAYLESS, who has already been eyed by some of the nation's top colleges, is scoring at a 13.5 clip after Chillicothe's first two outings.

Billy Ray, a 6-foot-4 senior and the team's leading rebounder, will be Bayless' running mate at a forward position. Ray experienced academic problems last year and played in only two games.

Dan Beverly, a lanky 6-foot-5 senior who owns a 9.0 scoring mark, will start at the pivot and Ted Gatliff, a 5-foot-10 senior, and Rex Blake, a 5-foot-9 junior, will be the guards.

Two of Chillicothe's top scorers are not full-timers. James Gause, a 6-foot-2 junior, owns 10.5 credentials and Kevin Blevins, a 6-foot-0 junior guard, has scored at a 9.5 rate. Mike Ratzlaff, a 6-foot-0 junior will also see considerable action.

Chillicothe will open its COL campaign at Zanesville Friday.

Don Johnson leads

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The final tournament of 1972 may decide this year's total winnings race in the Professional Bowlers Association with Don Johnson of Akron now holding only a slim $2,218 edge.

Runner-up Nelson Burton Jr. of St. Louis, Mo., who has $54,430 to Johnson's $56,648, is entered in the Winston-Salem Invitational in Hawaii, but Johnson is not.

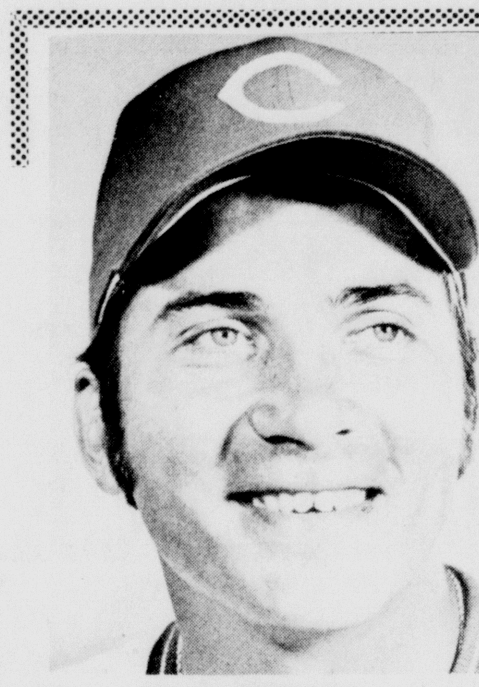

Johnny Rodgers pledges smooth road for brothers

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Rodgers knew he'd come a long way. From the coldness of the Lincoln Jail, to the warmth of the Heisman Trophy.

"My road's been bumpy," said Nebraska's football hero. "I aim to make it smoother for my brothers. Nobody deserves the route I took."

Rodgers won the Heisman in a landslide. Oklahoma running back Greg Pruitt was a distant second. Johnny's fellow Cornhusker, middle guard Richard Glover, was third.

Tuesday's announcement came amid controversy over the 21-year-old Rodgers' brushes with the law, including a $90 gas station holdup not far from the Nebraska campus in 1970.

JOHNNY BENCH

Bench faces surgery

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Johnny Bench will enter a hospital here Saturday to undergo surgery for a lesion discovered in his right lung three months ago during routine Cincinnati Reds physicals.

"They really don't think it's anything malignant, but it might be necessary to remove it," said the catcher who was voted the National League's Most Valuable Player in 1972.

Bench said the "spot" was discovered on an X-ray in September, prior to the National League Playoffs in which the Reds defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Reds lost the World Series to the Oakland Athletics.

Bench said he had no physical trouble during that period and expects to be well enough to play this spring. "I'm going to be 100 per cent," said the 24-year-old bachelor. "That's what the doctors say and that's what I have to believe. I have to think of it in that manner."

Dr. Luis Gonzalez, a thoracic and cardiovascular physician in charge of Bench's treatment. Bench said he would enter the hospital Saturday with surgery scheduled for Monday.

"The overwhelming odds are that it is benign," said Dr. Gonzalez.

He planned one test today "to look into the bronchial tubes and hopefully to find out what the cause is. If it doesn't show what the cause is, we'll have to proceed as scheduled on Monday."

Dr. Gonzalez said that the lesion was "most likely the result of a fungus infection, or a little benign tumor, one of those two things."

"The appearance on the X-ray is much more indicative of a 'benign lesion rather than a malignant one,'" he added.

"We think everything is in his favor."

Bell ousted by Patriots; Garrett back

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — General Manager Upton Bell of the struggling New England Patriots is out and star running back Carl Garrett is back in.

In a hectic day for the front office of the National Football League team Tuesday, the board of directors and Patriots' owner William Sullivan fired the 34-year-old Bell, a former professional football commissioner's son who started out as a $65-a-week dressing room attendant. Bell had one year remaining on a reported rich three-year contract.

The Patriots, whose 2-10 record is the second worst in the league with two games left, said in a statement they are seeking "the best available coach in America." They said the new coach will be given full authority to run the team.

In another move, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle ordered the Patriots to put Garrett back on the team. Garrett, the leading ground gainer on the team, had been suspended indefinitely for missing practices by interim coach Phil Bengtson.

Garrett, his representatives and Bell met with Rozelle in New York Monday for a six-hour hearing on the running back's situation.

The Bankers, behind double figure scoring efforts from four players, paddled Culligan Soft Water 80-40 in the opener and the Lumbermen, with Larry Mowery and Rick Smith contributing 51 points, spanked the Fayette County Bank 96-63 in the nightcap.

Vic Pontious, the Washington C.H. Blue Lions' assistant basketball coach, netted 24 points and Danny Mahoney canned 21 to lead the Savings Bank to its second win in a row.

Dennis Clay's 25-point performance was tops for Culligan Soft Water which absorbed its second straight loss.

Smith canned 26 points and Mowery added 25 to pace the quick-starting Wilson Lumber team. Jim Hildreth scored 16 for the Fayette County Bank, now 0-2.

Marquette would defeat UCLA, Vols coach claims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What's this? Ray Mears, Tennessee coach, comes right out and says Marquette would beat the mighty UCLA Bruins, who have ruled college basketball for six straight years and won 48 in a row.

No ifs, maybes or buts about it, either. Mears made his surprising comment after the nationally fifth-ranked Marquette Warriors had whipped his 14th-ranked Vols Tuesday night in Milwaukee 56-30.

"Their pressure defense is better than anything I've seen UCLA play," declared Mears, who has coached Tennessee for 11 years. "If they played UCLA here at the Milwaukee Arena they'd beat them. They might even beat them out there." He referred to UCLA's home court in Los Angeles.

The Vols, who upset South Carolina 55-45 in their opener on Saturday, stayed in a zone for nearly the entire game while the Warriors forced them into numerous turnovers in chalking up their 74th straight victory at the Arena.

"You can't chase the ball against this team when you have big guys like we have," Mears said. "All I can say is that's the most devastating team we've played since I've been at Tennessee."

Led by Maurice Lucas, who scored 20 points, the Warriors zoomed to 16-4 lead and were never in danger.

Louisiana State upset 11th-ranked Memphis State 94-81 and No. 13 North Carolina swamped Dartmouth 128-86 in other games involving teams in the Associated Press Top Twenty.

Louisville beat Dayton 75-58, Indiana humbled Kansas 72-55, DePaul took Northwestern 88-80, New Mexico downed New Mexico State 86-67.

Plaintiffs win jury's verdict in damage trial

A Common Pleas Court jury Tuesday afternoon returned verdicts in favor of Columbus brothers in their damage complaint against a Fayette County man.

However, the jury awarded a total of only $1,394.78 in compensatory and punitive damages in the suit which had sought a total of $200,000.

E.D. and Thomas E. Kimball, both of Columbus, filed the joint action against Frank Helsel, Rt. 6, in which they both sought judgments of $50,000 in compensatory damages and like amounts in punitive damages.

The two men alleged in their petition that Helsel struck them about the face and head on W. Mound Street in Columbus, March 6, causing both to suffer permanent injuries.

The trial got under way Monday morning and was marked Tuesday morning by the use of video tape equipment with which three depositions of physicians were shown to the jury. It was the first time in the history of Fayette County jurisprudence that video tape equipment had been used in a trial.

THE JURY, which retired at 3:16 p.m. and returned its verdicts at 5:25 p.m., awarded Thomas Kimball $55 in compensatory and $50 in punitive damages and E.D. Kimball $1,239.78 in compensatory and $50 in punitive damages.

Members of the jury were Charles L. Zinn, James E. Wiscup, Margaret M. Francis, Myrtle Trout, Terry Summers, L. Carl Johnson, Wilby McCoy and Milbourne Barney. The alternate juror was John E. Lyons.

Judge Evelyn W. Coffman, who presided at the trial, Monday dismissed a separate suit seeking judgment of $100,000 filed by Helsel against the Kimball brothers. Kimball had sought $35,000 in compensatory and $65,000 in punitive damages over an alleged letter published by the defendants accusing him of taking property which did not belong to him.

The defense Monday submitted a motion for summary judgment, which was sustained by the court, alleging that there was no proof that the letter had been read by anyone other than the plaintiff.

Georgetown boy said doing well

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Four-year-old Perry Holland was reported responding well to treatment for minor frostbite and exposure today at Brown County Hospital.

The youngster wandered away from his home Monday and was found early Tuesday by Mrs. Ruby Bohl on her farm, three miles from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Holland, the boy's parents.

Mrs. Bohl discovered Perry sleeping in the yard after spotting his puppy nearby.

Local leaders eye regional planning

A group of community leaders, meeting Tuesday night in the Chamber of Commerce conference room to be briefed on the possibility of joining the Central Ohio Planning and Service Region, decided to appoint a three-man committee to attend regional meetings for the purpose of organizing in Fayette County.

Paul Baldrige, of the Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission, met with the group to discuss the feasibility study and to explain the purpose and scope of such a regional study.

Included in the study area will be Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Licking, Madison, Pickaway and Union counties. The purpose of the study is to determine how local units of government within the eight-county area could cooperatively establish a workable strategy and mechanism for solving area-wide problems and taking advantage of areawide opportunities.

The study would be conducted by the Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission in cooperation with local units of government and citizens of the region and the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

As an outgrowth of Tuesday night's meeting, representatives of the Fayette County Planning Commission, City Council and the Chamber of Commerce will be appointed to the special committee to meet with the Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission to organize the Fayette County participation.

Jerry Sheppard, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said "Local governments and citizens in Central Ohio have the opportunity to take the initiative in determining the best future for the region and how best to achieve it."

Illness, accident victims treated

A Terre Haute, Ind., man who became ill in a freeway rest area, and a N. North Street youth who was injured while repairing his car were taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital for treatment Tuesday, according to Sheriff's Department and City Police Department reports.

Sheriff's deputies said Louis E. Austin, 32, of Terre Haute, called the Sheriff's Department from the northbound rest area on Interstate 71 at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday to request assistance. Austin was admitted to the hospital with a viral illness, officers said.

Wayne Roberts, 18, of 1004 N. North St., was treated at Memorial Hospital for a forehead laceration and released at 8:45 p.m.

City police said the youth was beneath his car replacing a transmission when it slipped and struck him on the head.

Isolated tribe subject of book

COLIN TURNBULL
By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Picture a land where a mother drives her child out of the home to fend for itself at the age of 3, where the old and the sick are abandoned to die — a place where the people no longer can afford to love each other.

This is the country of the Ik, a band of some 2,000 people who live isolated in the mountains in the northeast corner of Uganda.

"When I first met the Ik (pronounced eek) I was hostile," recalls anthropologist Colin M. Turnbull. "I thought they were utterly inhuman. In all of my other experiences in Africa, the people were the essence of humanity. It was a great shock to find an African people the reverse of this."

But Turnbull, who spent two years studying the Ik and recently published his findings in "The Mountain People," soon changed his mind about the Ik.

THE IK, he explains, once were hunters who followed the game as it moved through Uganda, the Sudan and Kenya. But they were stopped from hunting and their nomadic cycle was destroyed when boundaries were drawn between the three countries and the area in which they had moved was made into a game preserve.

Locked into a small corner of land with not enough game or fruit to feed them all, the Ik tried agriculture but there was not enough rain to grow more than meager crops.

So, in the space of some 50 years or less, the Ik became as they are now.

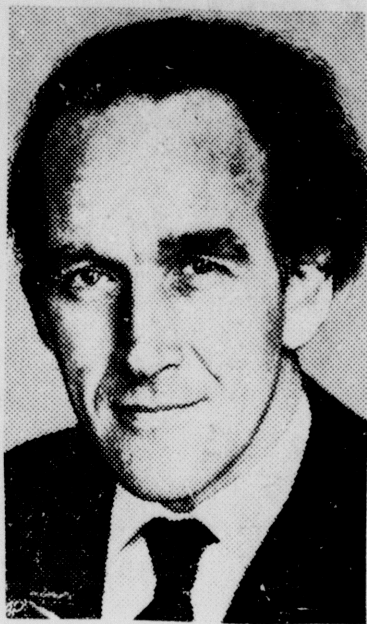

Turnbull, a tall, relaxed man who speaks quietly, says, "We can only guess at what the Ik used to be like. I talked to some of the older people and gathered that they must have been loving, humorous, uncomplicated and with strong family ties. And now it's the reverse of all those."

He tells of being kind to an old woman "and she suddenly cried, because all of a sudden we had reminded her that there had been a time when people had helped each other, when people had been kind and good."

TURNBULL, a professor of anthropology at Hofstra University when he isn't doing field work in Africa or India, says, "the Ik are as they are because it's the only way they can be — a survival mechanism."

"When there's not enough food to go around it's good biology to keep the breeding group alive and let the old and children die. The old, they reason, are going to die anyway while some of the children will always survive even when they have to make their own way after they become 3."

"When the normal system is one of starvation, you can't afford to be generous when there isn't enough food. The survival of the tribe depends on each person getting and consuming his own food. In this way the most healthy and most useful survive while the unhealthy and useless die off. It's alien to us, but it is logical."

TURNBULL, who often went hungry himself while with the Ik, says "the Ik have lost any sense of family. They have lost the ability to be generous. They no longer can afford to love each other."

He concludes that "all of these things that we think of as basic human qualities appear to me as not basic but as luxuries that humanity usually can afford to develop. We have exactly the same potential as the Ik for what we describe as inhumanity."

Handsome Dan, a bulldog adopted by Yale undergraduates in 1890, became college football's first mascot.

County Board studies increased population

A lengthy discussion with county officials pertaining to school building needs in the Miami Trace School District as a result of a recent housing boom topped a relatively light agenda for the Fayette County Board of Education at its regular semi-monthly meeting Tuesday night.

Several employment matters, a proposal from the Ohio Association of Public School Employees and miscellaneous business also confronted board members. Board president Wayne Baird was absent.

Robert Mace, Laurence Dumford and Robert Fichthorn, of the Fayette County Board of Commissioners; Charles Funk, of the Fayette County Health Department and other interested persons including presidents of PTO groups throughout the school district attended the meeting to express their thinking on the housing development boom in Fayette County and what effect it has on the school district.

Funk reviewed the number of subdivisions in Fayette County and the amount of construction now underway or proposed in each. He said there currently are 65 subdivisions in the county and 31 of those are in Union Township.

Mace pointed out that approximately 300 homes were constructed in Fayette County during 1972 and estimated that a large number will be built in the coming year, but gave no firm number.

ALONG the same lines, Dumford noted that he sees "at least the same amount of building, or more of the low-cost government subsidized housing in the county next year." He reviewed general water and sewage plans prepared by M. M. Schirtzinger and Associates, Chillicothe, consulting engineers for the Fayette County Regional Planning Commission.

Union and Concord townships were pinpointed as probably the largest growth areas in the county, plus the area of Octa, Jeffersonville and New Holland where sewage treatment plans have been, or are being, completed and present an excellent opportunity for future construction.

Also discussed were trailer park proposals in the county and the influx of persons from the city to the rural area which has caused an increase in enrollment in the county schools.

Board member Kenneth Payton said, "We know there is a problem and Kissinger undecided on future position?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger will decide within one month whether he will return to his professorship in the government department at Harvard, according to a university official.

Prof. James Q. Wilson said on Monday he met in Washington with Kissinger Nov. 28, and Kissinger "indicated that he had not yet made a decision on his plans."

something must be done before it's too big to handle," in respect to the overcrowded conditions already existing in the Miami Trace School District.

Payton then noted that the school board will be forced to look into these problems and decide on what action must be taken to meet the needs.

In answer to a question concerning the condition of the district's school building, Funk pointed out that he feels the district is starting to "outgrow" some of its buildings, but felt that the general condition of the buildings is "good" considering their age.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said that there seems to be a general attitude in the district of not being greatly concerned over the condition of the buildings.

The board agreed to study these problems further.

IN EMPLOYMENT matters, Mrs. Julie Smith, 824 N. North St., was hired as a high school business teacher effective Dec. 6. She holds a bachelor's degree and has two years of experience.

Mrs. Kay Miller was employed as a school bus driver to replace Edward Rankin whose leave of absence was authorized at Tuesday's meeting, effective Dec. 12. The board also accepted the resignation of Paul Rush, a bus driver.

Mrs. Thelma Barton, of Bloomingburg, was employed as a substitute bus driver upon completion of testing, and Mrs. Barbara Riley, Rt. 3, Washington C. H., Mrs. Nancy Lovett, Rt. 3, Washington C. H., and Mrs. Bessie Allen, of Bloomingburg, were hired as substitute cooks.

The board also employed Mrs. Maxine Hollis, of Washington C. H., as a clerk's assistant to replace Miss Lynn Jenkins whose resignation was accepted.

Gilbert Jones, a school bus driver in the Miami Trace District, and Fred Haynes, a field representative for the Ohio Association of Public School Employees, Columbus, submitted proposals seeking an amended salary schedule and 10-cent pay increase for all non-certificated employees. The board agreed to study the proposals for a later discussion.

IN OTHER MATTERS:

The board authorized payment to the Pickaway County Board of Education for participation in the Pickaway Media Center for this area of the state. From this source the district will receive rental of films.

Board members agreed to conduct a study to determine the estimate of costs for renting gymnasiums for interested basketball groups.

Coaches for the Biddy Basketball program were employed. The coaches were Larry Garringer and Dick Hughes, Jeffersonville; John DeLay, Madison Mills; Emmett Mick, Bloomingburg; Alan Wilt, Wayne; Ronald Knisley, Wilson; Charles Bowdle, New Holland, and Robert Cosgray, Jasper.

Adopted a report card for the primary reading program.
